BRAINS AND HAIR ON LOADED STICK

May Have Been Used by Murderers of Claude Bass.

Found Concealed in Room in the New Richmond Hotel and Given to Police.

VERDICT OF CORONER'S JURY.

Covered with blood and brains, a loaded stick was found wrapped in a quilt in a drawer of the bureau in room 36 at the New Richmond hotel.

It has been turned over to the police who think it undoubtedly was used in murdering Claude Bass, who was found on North Sixth street last Wednesday morning with his skull crushed.

The stick was found last night at 10 o'clock by two guests of the New Richmond hotel, a man and his wife, Colonel Dale, owner of the New Richmond, assigned them to room 36, which is one of the best rooms. The cool spell was directly responsible for finding the weapon. In the night the man got up to get a quilt as it was cool with the light summer covering on the bed. He opened a drawer in the bureau, took out a quilt and began to unfold it. The stick then fell out to the floor.

Realizing that he had uncovered a weapon used in some crime he immediately notified Colonel Dale, who comprehended in a moment that he had discovered a valuable clue for the police.

It is known who occupied room 36 every night since the tragedy. The police have selected one of the occupants as the person who secreted the stick in the bureau drawer. If the one they think committed the crime, or assisted in committing the crime, is the right man, he stayed in Paducah several days after the atrocious murder. It was hot weather when the crime was committed and for four days afterward. The murderer naturally might suppose that wrapped in a quilt it would be many days and possibly several weeks before more cover would be needed on the bed. So he placed it where it was found. But before he secreted it he tried to scrape some of the tell-tale evidence of human blood and brains which covered the stick. He did not succeed in that completely.

There is a side line of theory possible in speculating on the presence of the stick in the bureau drawer. The nature of the stick would indicate that no novice did the work. The stick could have been hid in the bureau drawer of this room as a blind to mislead the police, casting suspicion on an innocent man. His reasoning in a straight line, all evidence points to an occupant of the room last week.

Go to Grand Jury.
All evidence possible to collect in the Claude Bass murder mystery is being secured by the police and will be taken directly before the grand jury at its sitting Monday. This announcement was made yesterday afternoon after the coroner had held the inquest and a verdict rendered. The verdict is one practically of murder, but the "parties unknown" make it impossible to take an immediate legal action.

Chief of Police James Collins is keeping his cards well concealed and established just as much as he wanted to yesterday at the inquest. In fact, a half dozen women, who reside in the neighborhood of Sixth and Third streets, had been summoned at the city hall to testify at the inquest, but they were sent away without being heard.

It is stated that when the grand jury meets they will be given an opportunity to tell how much or how little they know.

The facts that cries of distress were heard by more than one witness at a late hour that night, and pleas for mercy followed and then blown and groans in sufficient that Bass met his death in that neighborhood, and some one knows about it, the police are sure. The best methods to get at this are being employed and Chief Collins will have abundance of good material for the grand jury to work on.

The Inquest.
Following is the verdict of the coroner's jury:

"We, the jury empaneled and sworn to inquire into the death of the body now lying before us, find from the evidence that said body is that of Claude Bass, and that he came to his death in Paducah, Ky., on Wednesday, Aug. 22, 1906, from blows in-

BLOODY THUMB

PRINT ON WALL A CLUE TO MURDER MYSTERY.

New York Has "Jack the Ripper" Crime Among Lower Class—
Pacemaker Is Arrested.

New York, August 28.—A "Jack the Ripper" murder was committed in the Bowery district early today. The only clue is a bloody thumbprint. The victim was Annie Moore, who for many years lived in illit relationship with her brother-in-law James Moore. The police say Moore's wife is living. He was arrested on suspicion. Moore claimed he found the terribly murdered body of the woman when he returned to the room, and informed the police. The thumbprint will play an important part in the case.

Coldest August Day.

Des Moines, Ia., Aug. 28.—Frost was reported in Iowa lowlands today for the first time this season, although it is not thought that the great Iowa corn crop will suffer damage because of it. Threatening—New Government for City.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 28.—Threats to exterminate the Jews of Warsaw are made by soldiers of the Polish capital in revenge for the killing of the officers of the Russian army. The threats are causing Jews to flee from the city in a panic. There seems to be plenty of authority for the report that a massacre of Jews is probable. Further news from Warsaw is eagerly awaited.

Treppoff for Warsaw.

Warsaw, Aug. 28.—It is reported that General Treppoff, the "Iron fist" suppressor of revolutionists in St. Petersburg, will be appointed governor-general of Warsaw. Schave retreated across the street and when he reached the opposite side fired three shots, which resulted in the death of Woods. Schave gave himself up but is still doing police work.

CHANGE IN BOARD OF PUBLIC WORKS

George Langstaff May Succeed President Rinkloff.

Large Number of Street Improvement
Contracts to Be Let Tomorrow Afternoon.

NEWS FROM THE CITY HALL.

It is reported at the city hall that John W. Rinkloff, president of the board of public works, will resign from the board some time this week. Mr. Rinkloff is in Cairo today and the report could not be verified.

Mr. Rinkloff is the second president of the board, succeeding the late E. P. Noble, when the latter resigned. During Mr. Rinkloff's short term the city has been doing a large amount of public work, and he has been diligent in urging the contractors to hurry the improvements.

Mayor Yelver said this morning, when seen about the report, that the resignation of President Rinkloff has not been placed in his hands.

It is said that Mr. George Langstaff, of the Langstaff-Orme Manufacturing company, may be chosen to succeed President Rinkloff.

Street Contracts.

The board of public works will have its hands full tomorrow letting street contracts. There are eight all told to be let tomorrow, covering the street and sidewalk contracts, separately, and four more to come a week later. Those to be let tomorrow are for first street with sidewalks, Broadway to Washington street, Washington street, sidewalks, from First street to Third street, Second street, with sidewalks from Washington street to Kentucky avenue. A sidewalk contract on Jones street between Ninth and Tenth streets, will be let tomorrow. The board will hear complaints, have a talk with contractor relative to pushing work now in progress and look after improvements generally. The board desires to have all public work on streets finished before the inclement weather sets in.

Hospital Finances.

City Auditor Alex Kirkland was asked yesterday by the hospital board to procure a financial statement of the institution for the first seven and a half months. The report shows that a total of $3,128.58 has been taken in and $7,200 expended out of the appropriation. The report is favorable to the management of the hospital which is rapidly making the institution one of the best and most popular in the state.

MILWAUKEEAN IS FOUND DEAD.

Body of Paul Melanec, Who Disappeared Friday, Taken From River.

Milwaukee, August 28.—The body of Paul E. Melanec, treasurer of the Melanec-Berwell company, was found in the river above the dam today. Mr. Melanec disappeared Friday night and his relatives had been searching for him since. While at Blatz park with the other members of the Milwaukee Regatta club he became greatly excited at what he fancied was an insult. Soon after he left the party and was not seen again. His intimates say that he had been affected by the severe heat of last week and it is believed that he accidentally walked off the dock into the river. Mr. Melanec was a bachelor and 42 years old.

IMMENSE CROWDS

And Mrs. Longworth Open Cincinnati
Fair Festival.

Cincinnati, Aug. 28.—Mrs. Alice Roosevelt Longworth opened Cincinnati's fifth fall festival today. She touched a gold button in Music Hall, which sent the current of electricity to immense chime bells suspended over Elm street. When the echoes of the chimes died away Joyland in Washington park and Music Hall, which is devoted to the industrial exposition, were thrown open to the public. The festival will continue four weeks.

REFORM IS SLOW IN TAKING HOLD

Supt. Lieb Says President's Dictum Will Not Do It

New Generation With New Spelling
Books and Dictionaries Needed.

OPINIONS FROM COLLEGES.

"If spelling reform comes it will have to come through reform in the spelling book and dictionaries, instead of through executive orders," was the opinion expressed by Prof. C. M. Lieb, superintendent of the city schools this morning. "Of course, President Roosevelt can adopt any system of spelling he desires in the executive department," Professor Lieb continued, "just as many establishments, especially periodicals, do; but that will not do much toward bringing about the general adoption of the method. It may be that some time the spelling of some of the words—I think not all of them—will be changed, but that period is so remote that we will be gone when it comes. Catalogue, programme and many other words were changed in their spelling nearly 20 years ago, but I still cling to the full form and many others do. That shows how slowly such reform is accomplished. We have learned to spell one way and we have not time to learn a different way. The absolute reform will have to come with a generation that never knew any other way of spelling from the new, and that has dictionaries containing the new method."

College Opinions.

New York, Aug. 28.—A dispatch to a morning paper from Northeast Harbor, Me., says: Harvard will not stand for the Carnegie-Roosevelt innovation, according to President Eliot, who is stopping here. Mr. Eliot says the new style of spelling does not fit in the least appeal to him. "I suppose that President Roosevelt has a right to write his messages in any style of orthography to which he may incline," he remarked, "but I think it will be a long time before such a style as that proposed becomes very popular or takes a great hold upon the public."

"I do not myself care for it, and it is my opinion that the same view is held by the majority of leading educators. There are some distinguished men, such as President Butler, of Columbia, who have long favored it, but I do not see that their work has brought much of accomplishment."

"The English will hardly adopt this new system," he said. "It will mean that not only the publishers would be obliged to make two sets of plates, but that all the present plates of standard and popular works would be rendered incorrect and without value. It would be found that the public will not like the look of 'thru' and 'tho' and words similarly spelled."

Fine for Advertising.

New York, August 28.—President Roosevelt's simplified spelling reform has taken hold with a vengeance. Many business firms have adopted it in advertisements and correspondence. A rush for simplified spelling primers is being made. Printers are ordered to prepare 15,000 extra copies. Publishers of school books doubtless will endeavor to have new spelling in schools, as it would necessitate the publication of millions of new books. The change hardly will be inaugurated this year.

NO CANDIDATE WILL BE NAMED

Princeton, Ky., August 28.—The Republican executive committee of the First congressional district, met here today and decided to nominate no one for congress. ### CELEBRATE SAUERKRAUT DAY

Ackley, Iowa, Will Hold Big Served
Cabbage Festival Sept. 20.

Ackley, Iowa, August 28.—The erroneous report has been circulated that September 19 is the date set for the celebration of Sauerkraut day in this city. The shredded cabbage festival will be held on September 20, however, instead of September 19. Preparations have been made on a big scale to entertain the crowds which are expected here on that date. ## EFFORT TO BREAK DEADLOCK FAILS

Trustee Henry Gallman Will Not Resign.

Report Circulated That President McBroom Offered His Seat in Council Board.

NO SOLUTION TO DIFFICULTY

Efforts to settle the break the deadlock in the school board over the election of Miss Emma Morgan to the position of English teacher, so far have proven unavailing, and the indications are that nothing will be accomplished at the meeting tonight, as the deadlock over this one position seems to interfere with the performance of all the other duties of the board. Propositions to leave the settlement of the deadlock, in turn to the board of police and fire commissioners, various city officials and finally to all the former school trustees in the city have met with objection.

The latest report is that President McBroom, of the board of education, intended to resign his position, which was tendered to School Trustee Henry Gallman, who, of course, in that event would have to resign from the school board. Mr. Gallman voted to adopt the report of the committee, and his resignation would leave the board standing six to five in favor of electing Miss Morgan to the position in the English department. He refused to make the change and the matter has been dropped.

It is well-known that President McBroom does not intend to be a candidate for re-election to the board of education, but just how he could give up his place to Henry Gallman has caused some speculation. Mayor Yelver has the appointive power and on the resignation of Councilman Dipple named a Democrat. It was supposed he would follow the same course, if any other Republican councilman should resign.

Mayor Yelver denies that he has offered anybody a place on a contingency such as suggested and says that he agrees in his whole career has promised any man an appointment.

Concerning the episode President McBroom said:

"I do not intend to be a candidate to succeed myself, but what passed between Mr. Gallman and myself was confidential. He will not resign from the school board, though. He told me that flatly."

Mr. Gallman's Statement.

"Last Friday at noon Mr. McBroom came to me and told me if I would accept his place he would resign from the board of education, as he does not intend to run again. We both live in the First ward. He intimated that I would not have to resign from the school board, but I knew what would happen—as soon as I accepted a place in the council I would be out of the school board. Then they could elect Mr. McBroom or anybody they wanted and do as they please."

"I told Mr. McBroom I would think it over and Monday I met him down town and told him I would not give up my place on the board. He asked me why, and I told him I did not like to desert my friends, and I could not see much in belonging to the council so short a time. He said it would be a start toward re-election, but I thought differently. He asked me if I was prejudiced against the general council and if that was the reason I refused to take the place. You know the council refused to renew my school license. I told him no, that I have great respect for the body, but thought I would only prejudice my own interest by taking a seat. He said he thought that I would do myself some good by accepting."

"It did not strike me that way, and I decided to stick by my side and do what I think is right. Then, if the people do not like the way I have done, they can vote against me. There is nothing in either office to fight for personally, anyway."

three runs. Wright was not in good towns was only to be expected. Here are cigars of proved merit and proved condition, selling for than was ever asked for equal quality in the history of the cigar business. Success was certain.It isn't a "bargain occasion." It isn't a fad. It isn't a spasmodic effort. It's the natural result of a common-sense, fundamental merchandising principle.Two thousand stores buy as one. Their cigars are produced in million lots and each store gets its share straight from the producer. No intermediate profits, no job-ber's "take-off," no rents, no selling expenses to speak of! And all the saving given to the smoker.

We have already told you how this plan gives 3 for 25c. cigars for 5c. Now take

AGAINST TRUSTS SUITS ARE FILED

And Trust Busting Congressmen Can See Them

Game Preserves of Duluth Are Outdone by Wild Life Around the Capital.

GOSSIP FROM WASHINGTON.

Washington, Aug. 28.—Ollie James and John Wesley Gaines, champions of trust-busting in the house, should certainly find much satisfaction in the trust-busting campaign which, thanks in part at least to their efforts, is now being carried on by the government. The summer season is a bit slack for such work, but September, which brings the federal courts into regular session, will see a renewal of activities along all lines. Attorney General Moody, after a long rest, will soon be back at his desk to stay, and his coming will be the signal for a forward movement. Many of the pending cases will come up for trial in the early fall, indictments against alleged offenders will be sought in several judicial districts, and the government's force of investigators will continue its search for evidence. Indeed, Mr. Moody's chance for fame depends largely on the anti-trust campaign, with its numerous ramifications stretching into many fields. The department of justice hopes to bring the action against the tobacco trust to a final issue this fall or winter. The Standard Oil, from which a great fight is expected, will also receive its share of attention. In Florida, the Wholesale Grocers' association is to have a look at the big stick; the Terminal Railroad association of St. Louis is on the rack to be shown in Missouri; the fight against the National Retail Druggists' association will continue at Indianapolis; the federal grand jury in Tennessee has returned indictments against an alleged fertilizer trust; proceedings against the Virginia-Carolina Chemical company are pending in southern courts, and over in Hawaii the government is after an alleged lumber trust. Altogether the coming winter promises troublesome times for trusts of all kinds.

HOUSE HUMORIST.

J. Adam Bode, of Minnesota, the humorist of the house, painted such a glowing word picture of the president last winter of the fine bear and moose hunting in the strebs of Duluth that Mr. Roosevelt, it has been announced, is going out there—that is, to Minnesota, not to Duluth—this fall to dedicate the ursine population. If the president had postponed his decision, however, he might well have concluded to stay in Washington, for developments of the last few days have wrested from Duluth its claim as the finest municipal game preserve in the country, and given the prize to Washington. Indeed, Washingtonians are seriously considering the question of killing in Mighty Hunter Roosevelt to aid in capturing the elephant which has been roaming through the suburbs of the city for the last few days. It is not the G. O. P. elephant either, but a real one, or rather, two of them, which, having escaped from a local show, have been roaming the country for several days. Five hundred dollars reward has been offered for their capture, and elephant hunting parties are scouring the country, for, strange as it may seem, the two elephants, chained together at that, have succeeded in evading all searchers since the day of their escape. One young farmer, it is true did meet the pair of pachyderms, attempted to legkille them into captivity with sugar, and was promptly chased to the tall timber for his pains. It is believed the beasts are hiding in some slough on the river. And, as if a real, live elephant hunt was not enough, Washington this week indulged in a real fox hunt in the residence district. Not a regular affair, of hounds horns and red coats, but an impromptu one, occasioned by the appearance of two wild foxes from no one knows where. Everyone on hand joined in, including several policemen and after a melee in which one woman fainted and several valorous citizens were scratched and bitten, one of the animals was captured. But it will take just about one more affair of the kind to cause Washingtonians to organize into a huge hunters' protective society with President Roosevelt at the head, a position to which it is said he could be easily lured by the magic of the word "protective."

Wed in Six Months, Winning Wagers
Winfield, Kan., August 28.—Seven young women clerks employed by J. D. Robson a country merchant at August, have married in the last six months, the last being married yesterday. The brides were all married on a wager made some time ago that they would find husbands within six months. The time expired today.

DEATHS OF A DAY

Robert S. Robertson, Robert S. Robertson, veteran soldier, Civil war officer, leading lawyer, historian and a man foremost in the ranks of citizenship, died shortly before midnight, August 24, after an illness of several weeks, at Fort Wayne, Ind.

The direct cause of death was liver trouble, although Colonel Robertson had suffered from a complication of ailments for several months.

Col. Robertson was a native of New York. He was born at North Argyle April 16, 1839. He came from a distinguished lineage. His grandfather, Robert Robertson, was born in Scotland in 1756 and came from Kinrosshire in the latter part of the eighteenth century and settled in Washington county, New York. His son, Nicholas Robertson, the father of Col. Robertson, was born in North Argyle May 12, 1803, and was for many years a justice of the peace and postmaster in the New York town.

He was an officer in the Civil war and won several promotions for gallantry. He was wounded.

During the two years following the war, Col. Robertson engaged in the practice of law at Washington, D. C.

While living there he was married on July 19, 1865, at Whitehall, N. Y., to Elizabeth H. Miller, whose grandfather, Alexander Robertson, came to America from Blair Athol, Scotland, in 1801. Five children were born to the union, all of whom are living. They are N. A. Robertson, of Eureka, Utah; Mrs. William H. Shambough, of Fort Wayne; R. S. Robertson, of Paducah, Ky.; Mrs. E. F. Lloyd, of Detroit, and Mrs. W. N. Whitley, of Springfield, Ill.

The residence of Col. Robertson in Fort Wayne began in 1866. His ability and devotion to the cause of the Republican party at once made him prominent and in 1867 he was elected city attorney for two years. In 1868 he was nominated for state senator.

In 1871 he was appointed register in bankruptcy and United States commissioner. The former office he resigned in 1875 and the other in 1876. When the Republican state convention met in 1876 he was nominated, entirely without his seeking, for the office of lieutenant governor.

In 1886, a vacancy having been created in the office of lieutenant governor by the resignation of Gen. M. D. Manson, both the Republican and Democratic parties nominated candidates for the office and after a memorable campaign Col. Robertson was elected.

At the time appointed by law he was declared elected and took the oath of office as lieutenant governor in the presence of the general assembly.

Mrs. Jennie Lathern.

Mrs. Jennie Lathern, 50 years old, died of consumption last evening about 6 o'clock in a house just outside the city limits on the Cairo road. Coroner Baker was called this morning and held an investigation, determining that death came from natural causes. The woman leaves one son, Thomas Lathern. The body was taken to Illinois this afternoon for burial.

GREEK BOOTBLACKS

Imported to America by Syndicate in Europe.

Washington, Aug. 28. "We have stopped the importation of the little Greek boys who have been coming to this country in thousands in recent years," said Commissioner of Immigration Sargent today. "Practically all the large cities have sworn of bootblackening establishments filled with bright-eyed Greek lads of from 12 to 18 years. These were all brought over here by a European syndicate. But we have broken up the business. We reject these lads now on the ground that they are under age, unaccompanied by their parents and liable to become public charges through sickness or other ailments. We satisfied ourselves that the boys were coming here for the purpose of opening bootblackening shops, and not to go to school and receive education. It was not desirable to increase the population with this class of material."

MALICIOUS SHOOTING.

Charge Against Will Smith, a Colored Man.

Will Smith, colored, is wanted for malicious shooting alleged to have been committed last night. He is alleged to have shot Georgia Spide, but the police have not been able to get a "line" on him since the affair. Last night about 10 o'clock several men and women were quarreling near Ohio and Seventh streets. One shot a pistol and ran. The ball struck Georgia Spide, colored, in the right arm and inflicted a flesh wound above the elbow. The woman's screams attracted a crowd but Smith, whom it is said did the shooting, escaped before any one could get to him. The woman is not seriously injured.

PLAYING A TRICK ON BERTHA BERGER

Was Nalligan When He Took the Money, He Said.

Climbed in Second Story Window and Stole His Own Money Out of His Own Trunk.

CASE GOES TO GRAND JURY.

Tim Nalligan testified in police court this morning that he placed a ladder to the window of the lodging house of Mrs. Lou Hamilton on Elizabeth street, and in the window in the dead of night, went to a trunk used jointly by himself and Mrs. Bertha Berger, secured $39, scattered the contents all over the floor to make it appear like the work of a burglar. He even went so far as to take a hammer and bend the lock on the trunk. He claimed that it was his money and that he feared Mrs. Berger might get mad, take his money and go to another man. In order to humor and try to get her to remain, he testified that he had adopted this ruse, not wanting to let her know he took the money. They all live with Mrs. Lou Hamilton.

Nalligan is a night watchman on the river and claimed he often gave Mrs. Berger money to keep for him. She is a daughter of Mrs. Lou Hamilton, and Mrs. Hamilton's testimony favored the defendant. At the conclusion of the testimony Judge Puryear held Nalligan over to the grand jury.

Other cases: J. D. Pulliam, breach of ordinance, dismissed; Anron Moore, breach of ordinance, continued; Ross Thomas, carrying concealed pistol, dismissed; Ike Garret, for breach of peace, continued; Mabel Cherry, colored, sleeping in box car, $5 and costs; A. L. Saffer, petty larceny, dismissed; Tom Murphy, Tom Jackson, colored, Ed Sears, Charlie King, white, petty larceny, dismissed; Ed Sears, J. W. Nelson, breach of peace, continued.

LIFE SAVED BY QUEER CHANCE.

Michigan Man Has Narrow Escape From Drowning and Starvation.

Muskegon, Mich., Aug. 28.—Lying prostrate on a small sand bar and severely breathing, Chasence Van Orman, who had been missing since the fatal duck boat accident Friday on Cedar creek, was found last night by the rescue party which went in search of him and his wife, who was drowned and is now lying somewhere in the waters of Muskegon lake. He was revived and may recover in spite of his 68 years. For nearly forty hours Van Orman had lain alone on his scant vantage point overcome, too weak to move and without any nourishment whatever. Though feeble he was able to tell of his vain effort to rescue his wife, of her sinking before his eyes and of the remarkable chance by which he was landed on a narrow strip of sand and saved, though in danger of starving to death. Herman Beerman, the third member of the party, narrowly missed death in quicksand in his plucky tramp to the city for rescue. It took him twelve hours to get out of the swamp.

ASTRONOMERS SEE NEW COMET

Cambridge, Mass., Aug. 28.—The comet discovered by Professor Kopff at Heidelberg University Wednesday at the Lick Observatory and Professor Prybylsky at Koenigsberg, according to advice received at the Harvard college observatory. At the Lick observatory the comet was seen August 24, 7063 (Greenwich mean time) in right ascension 22 hours 48 minutes 0.1 seconds, and in declination plus 10 degrees 18 minutes 22 seconds. At Koenigsberg it was seen Aug. 24, 3456 (Greenwich mean time) in right ascension 22 hours 48 minutes 16.5 seconds, and in declination plus 10 degrees 19 minutes 26 seconds. The daily motion in right ascension was recorded as minus 0 minutes, 45 seconds; in declination minus 0 degrees 2 minutes.

SCHOOLS

WILL BE PREPARED FOR OPENING NEXT MONTH.

Teachers' Meeting and Examination Called and Buildings Put in Shape.

Teachers in the schools will meet at the Washington building in a general meeting Saturday morning, September 8, at 9 o'clock. At this meeting the year's work will be discussed and a general survey of school conditions will be taken.

Thursday and Friday of this week, the examinations for new teachers and for those teachers whose certificates have expired, will take place. The certificates to teach will be given, to run a certain number of years, the period to be determined by the percentage with which the examination is passed and the kind of examination taken.

Next Saturday the janitors of the different buildings will meet the superintendent of buildings to receive the supplies to be used in their work. These consist of brooms, mops and other apparatus for cleaning the buildings.

The buildings will be thoroughly aired, scoured and swept, and the windows washed. Whatever small repairs need to be made, will be made so that the schools will be ready to open September 10.

PINK TEA HEART.

For Which Cigarettes Are a Sure Specific.

Cleveland, August 28.—Dr. Martha Friedrich, health officer of Cleveland, advises women of the smart set to smoke cigarettes if they would preserve their complexion and escape heart disease. Tea, of which society women are so fond, causes heart disease, he says, because it stimulates the heart without feeding it. Nicotine is required to counteract the effect of the beverage.

The doctor has declared war on the pink tea and "green" luncheons. He says there are two kinds of complexion here—natural and premeditated.

"I care not for the latter," he said. "I presume the owners will look out for that. It is the former which may be ruined."

HIDES $95 AS JOKE: IT'S GONE

St. Louis City Man Pays for Trying to Fool His Partner.

St. Louis City, Iowa, August 27.—The inclination of Fred W. Convery to play practical jokes on each other is not the bottom of a naïf robbery which cost the firm some cash. Mr. Seney one night in a merry mood took the money out of the cash drawer and turned the store topsy-turvy. When Mr. Convery opened the office the next morning he thought it had been robbed, reported the supposed burglary to the police, and later had to "buy" for all comers. Last night Mr. Convery, thinking he would return the compliment, took $95 out of the safe and secreted it in a shoe box in the back of the store. The joke came to a sudden finish when the partners found that a thief had taken the $95. Now the robbery has been reported to the police in earnest.

APOLOGY TO AUTOIST.

Scorching Charge Dropped Because Officer Fires at Car.

Philadelphia, August 27.—David Frank a Chicago insurance man, appeared in the office of Magistrate Goentner in Abington township to answer to a charge of automobile scorching today, but on his arrival he was informed that the charge had been dropped and that an apology was due him because Patrolman Lever had fired at his automobile. The apology was made in open court by Chief of Police H. S. Lever, a brother of the patrolman, who asked his pardon in the name of the township. The Abington township commissioners today issued an order prohibiting policemen from firing on automobiles.

around a man with such a name as that.

The latest report is that Standard oil is seeking to acquire some of the big distilleries. Wants to bring fuel oil into the combine.

According to President Palma, the Cuban revolutionists have no program, and the uprising was wholly extemporaneous.

There was nothing essentially bil-
lial in yesterday's quotation of St.
Paul—198 3-4.

MR. BRYAN'S FRIENDS.

"Lewis Nixon gave out the program as at present arranged for the 30th." This is in a press dispatch which tells of the preparations for the reception of William J. Bryan, the corporation buster, at the great anti-corporation ovation when he lands in New York a few days hence, master of ceremonies at Bryan's assumption.

Who is this Lewis Nixon who is to be master of ceremonies at Bryan's trust-smashing demonstration at Madison Square garden in the latter part of this week? Lewis Nixon is the head of the ship building trust, about which some queer things were printed a year or two ago. Nixon's Greentree shipyard in Elizabeth, N.
J., which his friend Bryan, of course,
will have to visit, is a big concern—
probably as big as any that Bryan has seen in his awing round the globe. As president of the shipbuilding trust, Bryan's chum Nixon is affiliated with more combines, extending from Bath, Me., to San Francisco, than even J. Pierpont Morgan.

With Bryan and Nixon on the stand at the big demonstration in New York will be Moses C. Wetmore, the man who hustled the tobacco trust by selling out to it. Another man in the inner circle at the gathering will be Perry Belmont, who is one of the directors of the Inter-horizontal rapid transit company in New York and who is affiliated with more combines of various sorts than any other politician in New York except Nixon. On the roll of the other celebrities who are in his conspicuous at the Bryan reception will be William F. Sheehan, director of the Albany and Hudson railway company, the Kings county electric light and power company, the Louisville lighting company, the Westchester lighting company, and various other concerns of a sort that Bryan has been declining against, and which he may castigate in his speech at the coming round-up of trust magnates.

The reason why ex-Gov. David R.
Francis will be absent from the council is that he is detained by an engagement with his friend Edward VII., and because he is hooked to make a call on William II. in the opening days of September. If that report of Mr. Francis' nomination as vice president on the Bryan ticket should turn out to be true, the score or more of corporations with which the ex-governor is connected will be expected by Bryan to make a handsome contribution to his campaign fund.—St. Louis Globe Democrat.

SEPTEMBER TERM

OF McCRACKEN CIRCUIT COURT WILL CONVEENE MONDAY.

Only Seventy-Five Criminal Cases on Docket, and the Majority Are Small Offenses.

The regular September term of McCracken circuit court will begin Monday and the first work will be to empanel the grand jury. This will be the work of the first day. On the second day the petit jury will be empaneled and the trial of regular criminal cases taken up.

From indications the criminal term will be short. There are but 75 cases on the docket and but two are murder cases. These are the H. H.
Loving case for the alleged murder of H. A. Rose and Ed Sent for the alleged murder of Charles Stewart.

The remainder of the cases are for assault and battery, malicious cutting, forgery and disorderly houses, requiring but a short time to try.

The Grand Jury's Work.

The grand jury will have comparatively few jail cases to look after this term. The following are all the cases held over from the city court,
some being out on bond:

Will Wilkerson, colored, robbery;
Gene Cact, colored, robbery; George Fennell, grand larceny; Solimon
Matlock, malicious assault; Cicero
Anderson, murder; F. W. Toley, T.
L. Warren, alleged green goods swindlers; Will Tucker, colored house-breaking; Fred Zimmerman, robbery; Gabe Fletcher, colored,
malicious assault; Thomas Norfleet,
obtaining money by false pretenses;
Frank Richards, house-breaking;
Frank Crane, robbery; Wallace Perry, colored, robbery; Tim Nalligan,
robbery; and Jim Taylor, sodomy.

The latter seven have been held over from police court in the past two weeks.

An Assistant of Nature.

One of the most interesting things of this day of interesting things is the great success being achieved by osteopathy.

There is hardly a day that some cure which is deserving of attracting much attention, is not made by this new science, and the more it is studied, and the better it is known, the easier it is to see why it is so.

Osteopathy merely aids nature to cure.

It is a system of healing built up on demonstrable facts.

It discovers the cause of disease,
and treats it by scientific manipulations in order to correct disorders and bring about a natural condition.

Nearly all diseases yield to the treatment, and the diseases local to Paducah do so most readily.

In rheumatism, liver and bowel,
or stomach troubles, chronic headaches tired-out, run-down conditions, nervousness, its success has been very marked.

I should like to have you call to discuss your particular case at any time, and not only will I tell you frankly what osteopathy will do for you, but refer you to well-known Paducah people whom it has done much for.

"Liked Paris Pretty Good" But the Men "Were an Onery Looking Lot."

New York, August 28.—On board the steamer Finland, which arrived today from Antwerp, was a group of 36 young women, who were sent abroad by the Louisville Courier-Journal. The young women left New York on July 14 and had a month's tour in Europe. Commenting on her trip Miss Mary Elizabeth Lear of Point Lick Ky., said:

"It was all mighty fine, but I re-con we were all glad that we came from America and were bound back there again. I liked Paris pretty good, but to me the most interesting places visited were the mountains of Scotland and the falls of the Rhine. Europe will be a great place when it wakes up. In Paris we attracted some attention, and when we started to leave the Hotel Louvre one day

we found a mob waiting for us.
They expressed some displeasure over our personal appearance, but I don't blame them. They expected to see a great scene, and a lot of beauties, and all that, and we did not come up to their expectations. Some of the girls were rather offended, but I was not one of those. I was not much impressed with the men I saw on the other side. They were an onery looking lot. The women over there should come to this country for fine looking men. They ought to come down to Kentucky, for we have got some right smart men in that state."

flected upon his head with some instrument in the hands of a person unknown to us.—Joe Wood, J. W. Dicke, John W. Counts, W. C. Stanford, H.
A. Douglas, H. J. Bookhammer.

The inquest began at 2:50 o'clock, delay in arrival of the jury being the cause of the lateness.

The jury was sworn as follows: H.
A. Douglas, John W. Counts, Will Stanford, John Dicke, H. J. Book-hammer and Joe Wood.

Dr. H. P. Sights, of Riverside hospital, described the condition of the boy when brought to the hospital; the nature of the wounds, etc. He stated that there were five distinct cuts, evidently made by some blunt instrument, and that they were pronounced fatal from the start. He thought the wounds of several hours' standing.

The physician stated that the patient was delirious, and that in such severe cases the past is obliterated and only the present is thought of, and that the only intelligent words he heard him utter were, "Let me get at the black scoundrel."

T. W. Bass, Claude Itass' uncle, was next called. He stated that his nephew came to his house Saturday, August 18, and that he did not get to see him, hence he could not identify the clothes positively. He did state that the shoe found on the dead man was the size his nephew wore. He stated that the nephew's habits were good while here with him. The nephew had been in Grayville, Ill., several weeks, going there with his sister.

Edward Cohen, the clothier, stated that he saw Itass last Saturday afternoon, August 18, at his store on Broad street, and positively identified the clothes as those worn by Itass.

Cohen stated that Bass came in the store, paid him 40 cents, and showed him about $70 in bills. Because he noticed a rent in the sleeve of the boy's coat he tried to sell him a sul-of clothes, but the sale was not made.

Bass left a suit case in his store. The grip has never been opened. Cohen identified his hat. He identified the shoes as those worn by Bass.

Miss Mary Bass, a cousin, testified that she saw her cousin last at 4 o'clock Saturday, August 18, noon after his arrival from Grayville, Ill.

When he left her house he said he was going to search for a boarding house
as he intended staying here five weeks.

Miss Bass identified the clothes even to the shoes, necktie, collar and pipe.

Miss Bass said she did not know whether her cousin had money, but he had been working at $2 a day for three months. She said his height was 5 feet 4 inches when he returned from the reform school.

Dr. Johnson Bass, city physician, testified as to the condition of the patient when brought to the hospital.

He stated that he could not tell how many blows were struck, and could not tell what the blows were made with. He stated that the wounds could have been made by a blunt instrument. He thought the wounds had been made several hours before the boy was brought to the hospital.

The doctor stated that the patient's words were all delirious, and could not be understood.

Henry a Quarrel.

Mrs. Fannie McClannahan said she lived on Wagner avenue Tuesday night; that the street is also called Flournoy street. She knew where the body was found and lived one hundred yards from the scene. At 12 o'clock that night she was giving medicine to her invalid son and heard loud talking and hot words. She thought someone was quarreling. She heard a woman cry: "Lord have mercy!" and a man's voice cry out: "Turn me loose, you are killing me."

This was repeated three times and a calm ensued. Soon after her son called her attention to a wagon passing. She went to the window and saw a man pushing a push cart, but she could not tell whether the man was white or black. The cart was being pushed towards the "dump."

Mrs. McClannahan did not know her neighbor's name, and said that the noise she heard came from the direction of a residence 100 yards in front of her house. She said that push cart often passed her house pushed by negroes going to the dump after rags, wood, etc.

Luella Briggs, colored, lived on Terrell street between Sixth street and Seventh street, and stated she was at home on the night of the killing, heard loud talking, blows and some groans. The blows followed the hot words and the groans then were heard.

After this she heard no noises. The woman stated that she knows several who reside in that neighborhood but could not tell from where the groans came. She heard no woman's screams and saw nothing.

Malissa Matthews, colored, stated that she lives on Terrell street a short distance from Luella Briggs' and was at home on Tuesday night. About 11 o'clock she heard cries as if from some one in distress, a man's voice.

She heard the cries distinctly but could not understand the words. She did not arise and was awake because of the heat and being sick. She did not know exactly what time this happened as she had not looked at the clock. She lives on Seventh and Terrell streets about one and one-half squares from where the body was found. She did not hear any blows.

The woman said she did not know of any house of ill repute in that vicinity.

Bass' grip was produced in open court and being locked it was necessary to break into it. Clothes in the suit case were identified as Bass' and Cohen identified several garments it held as clothes he had sold the boy before leaving Paducah. The collars found in the suit case were the same size as that found on the murdered man, and shoes in the suit case were the same number and shape as those on the dead boy.

The evidence was closed and the court room vacated for the jury to deliberate and reach an agreement.

receive the same wages as regular firemen, $60 per month.

The matter of the Title Guaranty was done.

I. C. OFFICIALS MEET AT PALMER

Consider Affairs of Louisville Division.

Recent Conference With Evansville
Coal Operators Brings About Discussion.

CAN HANDLE WHOLE OUTPUT

Supt. A. H. Egan, Roadmaster F. L. Thompson, Supervisor of Tracks William McNamara, Supervisor of Buildings and Bridges W. C. Waggener, of the Louisville division, and several local and district Illinois Central officials, met at the Palmer House last night to discuss affairs of the division.

There was a meeting of coal operators and Illinois Central officials here and at Evansville recently and preparations made to handle the output of coal this winter which will be larger than any previous season. It is expected. The division is prepared to handle the coal and is running extra trains daily to handle it. Last night there was not an "unmoved" car on the division, a good record for the day, considering the vast amount of business being handled.

Material Expected for Heating Plant
Material for the new heating plant at the Illinois Central passenger station is expected at once. The installation of such a plant was decided several weeks ago but was delayed by a change in plans.

Coal Movements Begin.
Coal is beginning to move out of Kentucky for Tennessee and the south pretty fast and this morning three 800 class engines with cabooses went to the mining district to bring back coal trains. The light trains were run as first sections of the morning passenger accommodation train, and will bring in something like a hundred loads or more for the south.

Paducah's Finest.
Mr. William Keller, chief gardener for the Louisville division of the Illinois Central road, passed through the city this morning en route home to Louisville after making an inspection of the entire system of the regular appointed inspectors flower beds, lawns, etc. He was one and stated: "Paducah has the prettiest flower bed in my estimation, taking into consideration the number of flowers."

Wireless Aeroplane.
Brimford, Ont., Aug. 28.—Dr. Alexander Graham Bell's "wireless aeroplane," which is attracting the attention of Canadian and American scientists, assembled here, had a preliminary test yesterday. Capt. Angelmeier, of Chicago, the navigator, succeeded in rising to a height of 200 feet, turning a complete circle and alighting safely a few feet from the starting point. Dr. Bell's flying machine is operated by wireless electrical energy supplied from the earth. Next Tuesday a flight from London to Toronto will be attempted.

Prof. Tyler, of Amherst college, said recently: "A man can live comfortably without brains; no man ever existed without a digestive system. The dyspeptic has neither faith, hope or charity." Day by day people realize the importance of caring for their digestion; realize the need of the use of a little corrective after over-eating. A corrective like Kodol For Dyspepsia. It digests what you eat. Sold by Lang Bros.

WRECK OF DIXIE FLYER AT CAIRO

Caused by Car Splitting The Switch on Loop.

The Baggage Master's Head Crushed
As He Stood Between Rows of Trunks.

DETECTIVE BAKER ON TRAIN.

The fast Illinois Central main line passenger train No. 203, known as the "Dixie Flyer," running from St. Louis to New Orleans, was wrecked at Fifteenth and Ohio streets in Cairo, Ill., at 2:35 o'clock this morning, while entering Cairo. One man was killed and another seriously injured, and the escape of other passengers on the train, a Paducah man among them, was miraculous.

The wreck was caused by the baggage car splitting the switch and going into a string of loaded freight cars.

Detective Will Baker, en route home to Paducah from St. Louis with Gus Armstrong, colored, charged with malicious cutting, was the Paducah man in the wreck, and he was directly behind the baggage car, where the baggage man lost his life.

"The Dixie Flyer was entering Cairo at 2:35 o'clock this morning," Detective Baker stated, "when the baggage car struck the switch and 'split' it. It went between two heavily loaded box cars standing on a siding and was reduced to kindling wood. Baggage man D. J. McDonald, a brother-in-law of Superintendent Ewing of that division of the road, was killed and Porter John Thompson, colored, had his left arm broken in several places. These were the only injured. I was right behind the baggage car in a compartment with my prisoner, and we were thrown about the cushions with the other six passengers in that compartment, the same as if we were bubbles on the sea. It was nerve-racking and the excitement ran high. The confusion was great and it was some time before the track could be cleared and traffic resumed."

The train was in charge of Conductor J. A. Y. Zimmerman and Engineer Ike Sweet. The latter stated that he shut off steam and shoved on the air the minute he felt the baggage car leave the track. He ran half a square before the train could be stopped. The switch is located near the middle of Ohio street between Fourteenth and Fifteenth streets.

Thompson, the colored porter, stated that he ran toward the coaches when he felt the car leave the rails and this saved him. He noticed Baggage man McDonald standing in his car braced by trunks. When found the baggage man's head was crushed in and death must have been instantaneous.

After the excitement had died out somewhat, whines could be heard from under the debris of the wrecked baggage car. It was thought some person badly injured was under it. When brought to light the object proved to be a French poodle dog which had escaped injury.

The dead baggage man was 24 years old and married. He was a brother-in-law of Superintendent Ewing, of the St. Louis-Cairo division of the Illinois Central, and a popular young man well known to trainmen here.

Detective Baker Not Delayed.

Detective Baker did not suffer any delay because of the accident. The wreck happened on the "loop" and the morning passenger train from Cairo arrived 5 minutes late. Detective Baker brought Armstrong here and landed him safely in the county jail at 8 o'clock this morning.

—During this month we will make special prices and terms on pianos and organs. It would be worth your time and save you money to see our pianos and get our prices before buying. D. H. Baldwin & company, 520 Broadway.

CHAPTER XVIII.

BY 3 o'clock the saloons and stores, which had closed at noon, opened their doors, and Antioch emerged from the shadow of its funeral gloom.

By 4 o'clock a long procession of carriages and wagons was rumbling out of town. Those who had come from a distance were going home, but many lingered in the hope that the excitement was not all past.

An hour later a rumor reached Antioch that Roger Oakley had been captured. It spread about the streets like wildfire and penetrated to the stores and saloons. At first it was not believed.

Just who was responsible for the rumor no one knew, and no one cared, but soon the additional facts were being vouched for by a score of excited men that a search party from Barrow's Sawmills, which had been trailing the fugitive for two days, had effected his capture after a desperate fight in the northern woods and were bringing him to Antioch for identification. It was generally understood that if the prisoner proved to be Roger Oakley he would be spared the uncertainty of a trial. The threat was made openly that he would be strung up to the first convenient lamp post. As Mr. Britt remarked to a customer from Harrison for whom he was fixing a cocktail:

"It'd be a pity to keep a man of his years waiting, and what's the use of spending thousands of dollars for a conviction anyhow when everybody knows he's done it?"

At this juncture Jim Brown, the sheriff, and Joe Weaver, the town marshal, were seen to cross the square with an air of importance and precaution. It was noted casually that the right hand coat pocket of each sagged suggestively. They disappeared into McElroy's livery stable. Fifty men and boys rushed precipitately in pursuit and were just in time to see the two officers pass out at the back of the stable and jump into a light road cart that stood in the alley. A moment later they were whirling off uptown.

All previous doubt vanished instantly. It was agreed on all sides that they were probably acting on private information and had gone to bring in the prisoner. So strong was this conviction that a number of young men whose teams were hitched about the square promptly followed, and soon an anxious cavalcade emptied itself into the dusty country road.

Just beyond the corporation line the North street, as it was called, forked. Mr. Brown and his companion had taken the road which bore to the west and led straight to Barrow's Sawmills. Those who were first to reach the forks could still see the road cart a black dot in the distance.

The afternoon passed, and the dusk of evening came. Those of the townspeople who were still hanging about the square went home to supper. Unless a man could hire or borrow a horse there was no more temptation to start off on a wild goose chase, which, after all, might end only at Barrow's Sawmills.

Fortunately for him, Dan Oakley had gone to Chicago that morning, intending to see Holloway and resign. In view of what had happened it was impossible for him to remain in Antioch, nor could General Cornish expect him to.

Milton McClintock was at supper with his family when Mrs. Stapleton, who lived next door, broke in upon them without ceremony, crying excitedly.

"They've got him, and they're going to lynch him!"

Then she suddenly disappeared. McClintock from where he sat, holding a piece of bread within an inch of his lips and his mouth wide open to receive it, could see her through the window, her gray hair disheveled and tossed about her face, running from house to house, a gaunt figure in flapping calico skirts.

He sprang to his feet when he saw her vanish around the corner of Lon Bentley's house across the way. "You keep the children in, Mary," he said sharply. "Don't let them into the street." And, snatching up his hat and coat, he made for the door, but his wife was there ahead of him and threw her arms about his neck.

"For God's sake, Milt, stay with the boys and me!" she ejaculated. "You don't know what may happen!"

Outside they heard the tramping of many feet coming nearer and nearer. They listened breathlessly.

"You don't know what may happen!" she repeated.

"Yes, I do, and they mustn't do it!" clasping her hands. "Jim will be needing help." The sheriff was his wife's brother. "He's promised me he'd hang the old man himself or no one else should."

There was silence now in the street. The crowd had swept past the house. "But the town's full of strangers. You can't do anything, and Jim can't!"

"We can try. Look out for the children."

And he was gone.

Mrs. McClintock turned to the boys, who were still at the table. "Go upstairs to your room and stay there until I tell you to come down," she commanded peremptorily. "There, don't bother me with questions!" For Joe, the youngest boy, was already whimpering. The other two, with white, scared faces, sat bolt upright in their chairs. No danger threatened. They didn't know what this danger was and their very ignorance added to their terror.

"Do what I say!" she cried. At this they left the table and marched toward the stairs. Joe found courage to say:

"Ain't you coming too? George's afraid." But his mother did not hear him. She was at the window closing the shutters. In the next yard she saw old Mrs. Smith, Mrs. Stapleton's mother, carrying her potted plants into the house and scolding in a shrill, querulous voice.

McClintock, pulling on his coat as he ran, hurried up the street past the little white frame Methodist church. The crowd had the start of him, and the town seemed deserted except for the women and children who were everywhere, at open doors and windows, some pallid and plying, some ugly with the brutal excitement they had caught from brothers or husbands.

As he passed the Emorys' he heard his name called. He glanced around and saw the doctor standing on the porch with Mrs. Emory and Constance.

"Will you go with me, McClintock?" the physician cried. At the same moment the boy drove his team to the door. McClintock took the fence at a bound and ran up the drive.

"There's no time to lose," he panted. "But," with a sudden, sickening sense of helplessness, "I don't know that we can stop them."

"At least he will not be alone."

It was Constance who spoke. She was thinking of Oakley as struggling single-handed to save his father from the howling, cursing rabble which had rushed up the street ten minutes before.

"No, he won't be alone," said McClintock, not understanding whom it was she meant. He climbed in beside the doctor.

"You haven't seen him?" the latter asked as he took the reins from the boy.

"Seen who?"

"Dan Oakley."

"He's on his way to Chicago. Went this morning."

"Thank God for that!" And he pulled in his horses to call back to Constance that Oakley had left Antioch. A look of instant relief came into her face. He turned again to McClintock.

"This is a bad business."

"Yes, we don't want no lynching, but it's lucky Oakley isn't here. I hadn't thought of what he'd do if he was."

"What a pity he ever sent for his father! But who could have foreseen this?" said the doctor sadly. McClintock shook his head.

"I can't believe the old man killed Ryder in cold blood. Why, he's as gentle as a lamb."

As they left the town off to the right in a field they saw a lurching woman racing after her two runaway sons, and then the distant shouts of men, mingled with the shrill cries of boys, reached their ears. The doctor shook out his reins and pined his whip.

"What if we are too late?" he said.

For answer McClintock swore. He was fearing that himself.

Two minutes later and they were up with the rear of the mob, where it straggled along on foot, sweating and dusty and hoarsely articulate. A little further on and it was lost to sight in a thickened dip of the road. Out of this black shadow buggy after buggy flashed to show in the red dusk that lay on the treeless hillside beyond. On the mob's either flank, but keeping well out of the reach of their elders, slunk and skulked the village urchins.

"Looks as if all Antioch was here tonight," commented McClintock grimly.

"So much the better for us. Surely they are not all gone mad," answered the doctor.

"I wouldn't give a button for his chances."

The doctor drove recklessly into the crowd, which scattered to the right and left.

McClintock, bending low, scanned the faces which were raised toward them. "The whole township's here. I don't know one in ten," he said, straightening up.

"I wish I could manage to stop over a few," muttered the doctor savagely.

As they neared the forks of the road Dr. Emory pulled in his horses. A heavy farm wagon blocked the way, and the driver was stolidly indifferent alike to his outcries and to McClintock's threat to break his head for him if he didn't move on. They were still shouting at him when a savage cry swelled up from the throats of those in advance. The murderer was being brought in from the east road.

"The brutes!" muttered the doctor, and he turned helplessly to McClintock. "What are we going to do? What can we do?"

By way of answer McClintock stood up.

"I wish I could see Jim."

But Jim had taken the west road three hours before and was driving toward Barrow's Sawmills as fast as McElroy's best team could take him. When he reached there it was enough to make one's blood run cold to hear the good man curse.

"You wait here, doctor," cried McClintock. "You can't get past, and they seem to be coming this way now."

"Look out for yourself, Milt."

"Never fear for me."

He jumped down into the dusty, trampled road and foot by foot fought his way forward.

Franz Ferdinand, who will succeed the Austrian emperor, is credited with the assertion that Hungary needs to be reconquered at least once in every century.

SISTER NOT HERE IS HIS OPINION

The Rev. L. A. Summers Returns to Tennessee.

Searched All Hiding Places in Paducah With Patrolman Cross Yesterday.

ALL CLUES PROVED FALSE.

The Rev. L. O. Summers, of Greenfield, Tenn., has returned to his home after a second fruitless search through the city for his missing sister, Miss Lacey Summers, of Jackson, Tenn.

Rev. Summers learned that a young woman answering the description of his sister to an extent, registered on Tuesday night at the Crane hotel in Paducah under a different name and from Trenton, Tenn. He called yesterday on the proprietor of the hotel in company with Patrolman E. H. Cross, but after investigating, satisfied himself that it was not his sister, who had registered and spent the night at this hotel. The young woman the next morning paid her bill and left.

The Rev. Mr. Summers was much broken up over his unsuccessful search, and returned home downcast. He said he would not take up the search again until he had something tangible to work on.

"We scoured the town yesterday, going every place where she might be hidden, and were unsuccessful," Patrolman Cross said. "I was of the opinion that Miss Summers is not here, but the brother wanted to satisfy himself."

JOHN D. FOR THE SIMPLE LIFE.

Oh Kug Comes Out as Exponent of Less Serious Existence.

Cleveland, Aug. 28.—John D. Rockefeller today came out as an exponent of the simple life. In a twenty-minute conversation with a newspaper correspondent he discussed a variety of topics, among them being newspapers and the mode of living, and joked about the heat. Although the morning was one of the hottest of the season, Mr. Rockefeller did not show any effects from the heat. Daily practice on his golf links has hardened him, and he can endure the sun as well as many many years his junior. He chatted freely with the reporter, delaying the Sunday school and detaining a room full of people waiting to shake his hand. "This is really one of the warmest days of the year, isn't it?" he remarked. "I shall have to put more tubing on the upper end of my thermometer at Forest Hill. I suppose the heat of today will be reflected in the headlines of the papers on the morrow," and his smile broadened as he checked over his little joke. His conversation showed that he is familiar with the newspapers of New York. He inquired as to their standing, the personality of their editors and discussed their policies. He said that the rapid life the Americans are leading was reflected in the New York papers.

Theatrical Notes

"A Wife's Secret" Tonight.

The central figure in Spencer & Aborn's emotional drama, "A Wife's Secret," Blonna Madison, the wife of a clergyman, is the character that dominates the plot. We see her in the first act, a young, guileless bride, almost a child-wife, just a simple girl.

Scene from "A Wife's Secret" at The Kentucky Tonight.

though a mother, happy in the love of her husband and child. Changed in a moment by the surging tongue of scandal, her character assailed, she becomes all that she was not before, a woman of purpose and stamina, rising to dramatic heights. There are many other interesting characters in the play, and the comedy and humorous interests are said to be plentifully present. "A Wife's Secret" will be seen at the Kentucky tonight.

"On the Bridge at Midnight."

Thrilling realism and scenic wonders to the accompaniment of vivid melodrama are the characteristics of "On the Bridge at Midnight," which comes to the Kentucky theater Saturday matinee and night. The great scene of this piece is the famous "jack-knife" bridge over the Chicago river, seen in full operation. The story told in the play is intense.

The King of Tramps.

Avoiding all suggestive and vulgar situations "The King of Tramps," which comes to The Kentucky Saturday, Monday, September 3, matinee and night, contains nothing whatever that can offend the most exacting. Every line, situation, musical number, song and dance is given with a view of attracting people who uphold all that is refined in legitimate comedy. An entertainment entering especially to ladies and children.

"A Wife's Secret" company arrived this morning from Cairo, where the company played last night. The piece was enthusiastically received there. The company carries two big loads of scenery and two loads of baggage, the equipment indicating an attraction well backed with scenic and property accessories.

NEWS OF KENTUCKY

Another Feud Is On.

Whitesburg, Ky., August 28. — A messenger from the feud neighborhood of the Mullins and Flemings says there was a deadly feud battle between the factions yesterday at a picnic at the headwaters of Long Fork creek. It is said that two of the Mullins faction were killed outright and one fatally wounded, while the Flemings crowd suffered only by the wounding of the leaders, Sol and Henry Fleming. Witnesses say a hundred shots were fired, and that both Sol and Henry Fleming received fatal wounds. Levi Mullins, the leader of the Mullins faction, was killed, as was his brother-in-law, William Osburn, and Ben Mullins was wounded. If the wounded die it will doubtless break up the feud, since there will be no leaders. The men are prominent farmers, owning large holdings of timber lands, although this is the first serious engagement in some time. The Flemings boys, it is alleged, were the leaders of the klu klux band that terrorized Letcher county for many years.
